What is on the ground...

flows down!

When it rains, stormwater runoff picks up pollutants from our yards and streets. This polluted water enters storm drains, which ultimately flow to our surrounding bays.